Cellular One Continues to Expand Montana Coverage with Another New Cell Site in the Bozeman Area

Missoula, MT - January 21, 2009—Cellular One announced today the launch of another new cell site in the Bozeman area. The new site is located in Logan, Montana within Gallatin County and provides coverage between Three Forks and Manhattan. The addition of this cell site represents Cellular One's 32nd new site in the state within the past 18 months. Cellular One continues to out-build Verizon and Alltel as clearly the fastest growing cellular phone company in Montana.

“Cellular One continues to enhance our wireless coverage, high quality voice, and high speed data services,” stated Marc Leclair, EVP and Chief of Technical Operations of Cellular One. He continued, “Our focus is on providing superior network quality services for our customers.”

Jonathan Foxman, President and CEO of Cellular One added, “Our dedication to bringing the best wireless option to residents of the state of Montana promises four things: we will continue to build new cell sites and increase service to rural areas; we will regularly introduce extremely competitive rate plans such as our national “All of America” plan; we will frequently update our line of handsets and bring customers the latest technologies; and we will provide consistently exceptional customer service.”
